Premises Liability Defense

Barnwell Whaley Premises Liability attorneys defend insurance companies, their insureds, self-insured businesses, and professionals against allegations of injury or property damage including:

- Commercial Property Owners
- Property Managers
- Homeowners
- Businesses
- General contractors
- Developers
- Design professionals
- Retail stores
- Grocery stores
- Hotels
- Hospitals
- Restaurants
- Maintenance companies
- Municipalities

Our attorneys draw on years of experience defending against a range of claims, from straightforward to complex, including:

- trip and fall, slip and fall
- falling equipment or merchandise
- negligent security
- poor maintenance
- construction site accidents
- third party criminal attacks
- physical and sexual assaults
- liquor liability
- food borne illness or contamination

Our nurse-attorneys provide medical analysis, which when coupled with an accounting attorney, provide a thorough assessment of each case in determining merit and potential possible exposure. Barnwell Whaley's thorough investigations and years of experience provide added insight to develop the best strategy in protecting against a claim or any future impact on a client's business or personal interests. Our goal is to minimize or completely avoid any potential damages. However, when litigation is necessary, Barnwell Whaley's nationally recognized litigators will swiftly and aggressively defend our clients in state and federal courts.
